International Student Welcome Reception for Spring 2022

On January 13th, Jia He, Liaison Librarian for International Students, attended the USA international student welcome reception for Spring 2022 at the Archeology Museum. During the event, Jia collaborated with Global USA and reached over 58 new international students. She introduced available library resources and services at the Marx Library, distributed library handouts and business cards to the students, and welcomed them to contact her with their library questions. During the pandemic, USA international student enrollment declined because of COVID traveling restrictions. However, in November 2021, the US government lifted travel restrictions to international travelers and visitors. We look forward to seeing more international students and scholars on campus in the near future!

McCall Library Welcomes New Staff Member

The McCall Library is delighted to welcome a new staff member, Ms. Jada Jones, a 2021 graduate of the University of South Alabama's Master's program in History. Jada is not entirely new to the McCall Library, having worked as a student assistant on the processing of the Winter papers back in 2013. Jada brings particular interests in African American history and genealogy, as well as oral history. She is already taking part in collaborative work with University partners and community members as part of the 'Down the Bay' Oral History project with Dr. Phil Carr and Dr. Kern Jackson. Please welcome Jada if you see her.
