has gone above and beyond to create a positive work environment.

"She works well with all of the staff including the physicians and has gained the respect from all in getting the job done," said Marion Long, a clinical nurse in maternal-fetal medicine who nominated Crisler for the honor. "Heather has always been our go-to person. She gets whatever done without worry with a good attitude. She has taken on tasks that were not required of her but did them to help ease the concern."

Crisler is not only professional and a great communicator, she has an astounding ability to work and connect with people. Long added, "Heather has been a valuable asset to our group, and her sense of humor has kept us smiling. I feel this recognition is much deserved."

The USA Health Physicians Group Employee of the Month Award recognizes employees who exhibit exceptional customer service, compassionate patient care, teamwork, and a willingness to go above and beyond their professional duties.
